Forecast For West Midlands
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Thursday 24 Jun 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Morning rain breaking up into showers later.

Today:
A cloudy morning with patchy rain, potentially turning heavy or thundery at times, gradually moving southwards. This rain breaking up into showers through the afternoon with some bright spells developing too. Maximum temperature 22 deg C (72 deg F).

Tonight:
Cloud thickening again this evening with rain becoming widespread across the region and turning heavy at times overnight. Turning drier with a few clear spells by dawn. Minimum temperature 10 deg C (50 deg F).

Friday:
After a largely cloudy start, and damp for some, showers will become more frequent throughout the day, these heavy at times. Some sunny spells in between showers too. Maximum temperature 21 deg C (70 deg F).

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:
A cloudy and damp start on Saturday turning to sunshine and showers later. Drier with cloud on Sunday, then staying dry with some sunshine on Monday.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.